

THSTI team attended Haryana Gyanotsav 2020

A team from Translational Health Science and Technology Institute (THSTI) communicated its thematic programs through comics at Haryana Gyanotsav 2020 which was organized by Bhagat Phool Singh Mahila Vishwavidyalaya, Sonapat in association with Shiksha Sanskriti Uthan Nyaas, Haryana on 14th and 15th February 2020.

The event was attended by more than 1000 students and faculty members of schools and colleges from 22 districts of Haryana. The theme of the event was, ‘Innovative and creative practices in education for a better tomorrow.’

The comics were distributed among the student visitors to get them interested in the science happening in our laboratories and to help them know the people working to develop solutions to public health problems in India.

Comics are a medium that strike a chord with school children, science comics, maintaining the informative and educational content, make the content engaging for a reader by combining text and graphics. Over the last year, THSTI with the Life of Science team designed comics reflecting THSTI’s work to mark the institute’s 10-year celebrations. The comics can be obtained from the communications team of the institute.
