

DBT-ILS promotes nutrition farming in an aspirational district of Odisha

New Delhi, May 29: The Department of Biotechnology's Institute of Life Science (DBT-ILS), Bhubaneswar is actively pursuing farming activities in Nabarangpur, one of the aspirational districts of Odisha. Approximately 500 families are involved in this activity of growing seasonal vegetables.

The cultivated products are used up mainly for their own consumption, with surplus, if any, sold in the local market. The project has generated employment and effective engagement of the locals in taking care of their social economic welfare. The beneficiary families are spread over four villages spread over two blocks of the district.

Contact Person & Contact Details:

Dr Rajeeb Swain

Scientist E, DBT-ILS,

Email: swain1900@gmail.com, rkswain@ils.res.in